A BRIEF HISTORY OF LOYOLA-STRITCH

Loyola University of Chicago was founded in 1870 and moved from Chicago's west side to, what is now, the Lake Shore Campus, in 1909.

Recognizing the need for a strong medical school with university affiliation at that time, Loyola drew up a plan of gradual evolution through unification with a few of the area's leading independent medical schools. Thus, Loyola affiliated itself with Illinois Medical College in 1909 and with Bennet and Reliance Medical Colleges the following year. In 1915, this loose organization was passed to the control of the University trustees and became the Loyola University School of Medicine.

A home for Loyola's medical school was chosen in 1917 with the purchase of the old Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery building on South Walcott Avenue, across the street from Cook County Hospital. Three years later, the Loyola University School of Medicine was accredited by the Council of Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association, and, shortly thereafter, became a member of the Association of American Medical Colleges.

Loyola's efforts to improve its medical school facilities were limited by the lack of funds until Samuel Cardinal Stritch, in the 1940's, lent his name to an annual fund raising dinner that has become the main source of continuous financial support for the medical school. In his honor, Loyola renamed its medical school: the Stritch School of Medicine. With the new-found funds and Cardinal Stritch's encouragement, Loyola began planning for the construction of a new medical school building. Several sites were considered before the University finally decided on a site in Maywood just adjacent to the Hines Veterans Administration Hospital. Loyola's plan for this 60 acre piece of land was not only for a medical school but for a complete medical center.

Official construction on the medical center did not begin until 1965, but by 1969, the new medical school was in operation. In honor of a generous benefactor, the new teaching hospital was named the Foster G. McGaw Hospital of Loyola University.

The demand for medical care grew to be so great that, in the 1980's, the University began a program of medical center expansion and remodeling. The Mulcahy Outpatient Center was finished and open for patient care in 1981. Thi was followed, two years later, by th acquisition of one of the Hines V administration buildings by th medical center to provide offic space for clinical departments an for the new Medical Humanitie Program. In 1986, a new nine sto building, which was named th Russo Surgical Pavillion, was adde to the medical center. Also in 198 the Loyola University Medica Center was designated as a level Trauma Center for the state o Illinois. Two years later, the Loyol Lifestar Helicopter emergency medical system was finished an fully in operation.

The last four years has brought with it a new Emergency Room administration building and parking structure. And today construction is already underway for the Aeromedical Facility and the Cancer Center.

This continuous growth and improvement of the Loyola University Medical Center exemplifies it as an institution that is always changing to better serve the community, just as Samuel Cardinal Stritch envisioned.

DOOGIE'S DIARY

Day 1 — Freshman Orientation:
"Today is the first day of the rest of my life." — seems cliche, but it's true! I am finally starting my life long ambition of becoming a DOCTOR. Everyone said that I'd make it to med school, but I had my doubts. As a matter of fact, looking around the room during the orientation lectures today, I still have my doubts. These were people from the most prestigious colleges, and they weren't all book worms either. Yep, I certainly had my work cut out for me. Dean Leischner eased my concerns when he flatly stated that although we all come from different backgrounds, we all had something of "what it takes" to make a doctor.

Day 2 — Anatomy:
Wow, the classes really hit the ground running in medical school. Today's only the first real day and already we had a full day of lectures in Histology, Biochem and Anatomy. Sure, I've had similar courses in college, but I've never had ANATOMY LAB!! After discussing the initial dissection in lecture with Dr. McNulty we proceeded to the locker room to change for anatomy lab — hey, what locker room?! (Luckily, mom always made sure I wore a clean pair.) We all filed into a room full of metal tables, where The Rich-meister (The Rich-ster, the Rich-man) assigned us our cadavers. Then came the unveiling — fortunately I only had a light breakfast.

Day 52 — Post-Exam Blues:
Well, I sure have enjoyed summer. Perhaps a little too much. I guess my "big brother" wasn't joking when he warned me that the tests were a lot tougher than in college. We just got done with EXAM WEEK. I couldn't believe it. Who had time to sleep!!! I think that my "all nighters" have turned into "all weekers"! I'm mentally drained. I can hardly move, but I have to get up because I'm late for the post-exam week party.

Day 73 — Zoology or Pub-ology: (the quest for the best pub in town)
Who says medical school can't be fun? For example, today was one of the most beautiful Chicago autumn days and there was no way I could stand looking at another fibroblast under the scope. I've always said — if you've seen one fibroblast, you've seen them all! So, seeing as Brookfield zoo is FREE (key word) today, I sort of missed Histo lab and went to the zoo. And, by the way, what's up with this Biochem paper? When's that due?

Day 126 — St. Luke's Banquet:
Hey, not bad. We had the whole day off, and then went to a beautiful banquet honoring St. Luke (Patron saint of Physicians). Tons of prizes were given away. I didn't win anything. A senior medical student told me that I should get used to disappointment ... especially at St. Luke's Night. I wonder what he meant.

Day 138 — More exams:
Well, here I am again — CRAMMING for the exams. What ever happened to anatomy where "the foot bone is connected to the leg bone" stuff? And, by the way, 1)why is "Bono" of U2 fame (a.k.a. Dr. Kelly) teaching Biochem and 2)when is this Biochem paper due?

Day 155 — Post-finals blues:
I know I failed! I nearly passed out during the Biochem. exam. There's no way I could have passed those tes The instructors are going to lau when they grade my papers!

Day 203 — Med School continues
Well, it's a new semester and I'm s in Med School. I guess that test w tough for everyone else, too — even ones who came out saying it was ea Now, I'm thrown into Physio. Neu and Behavioral Sciences. Physiol lectures are sort of fun with the "Fr and Frack" antics of Drs. Lipsius a Thomas. And of course, it's alwa exciting when Mike Sacco butts hea (or hairstyles, or ... lack of hairstyl with Dr. Thomas.

KENYON

Day 228--Intramural sports vs. studying (Hmmm. Tough one.)
Our class is incredibly athletic. I mean if we're not winning in basketball, then we're dominating on the volleyball court. Thank God for the Californians. They help us win while looking good in SIDEOUT gear. (Oh, I can't neglect the other coast. Thank God for the New Jersey types. I knew there was hope when I locked my keys in the car. Those guys can get into anything.)

Day 235--CRAMMING
I'm starting to notice a definite pattern with this exam thing. I've got to get more organized, and darn it, I've got to stop looking at these coop notes. I don't think they're always 100% accurate.

Day 250--Behavioral Science:
Today was unusual. I was the only one in attendance at Behavioral Science lecture. Usually, it's the other way around--full class...no instructor. Then there's the subject of DR. Shea. No normal person draws with both hands and...soooo what if my father was born in California, is a lawyer from Notre Dame and now lives in Berwyn!!

Day 270--Spring Fever:
Baseball is in the air... and in the MDL's. This is actually a dangerous sport--for spectators. No one can predict where the Whiffle-ball will get smashed.. Dangerous as it is, it breaks up the monotony of the day.

Day 294--The Final Final:

It's over! It's actually over! I've...made it through medi school (okay, at least I made it through the first year). going to use this vacation to its fullest. Two months probably the most time I'll have off for the rest of my li

YrII/ Day 1--Back to School

School's the same (including the poor seats in the lect hall), but our MDLs have changed! Now we're on the Fi Ave. side and get to look out the hallway window at t beautiful Miller's Meadow (in which our cars are illeg parked).

YrII/ Day 39--
Immuno/Micro/Phar/Path:

No, school is definitely not the same. Last year we learn about medicine, when things work properly. Now, learn the infinite ways those things can get messed u Seems like the MDLs have developed new recreation activities: 1) playing chess, 2) betting on cars skidd through a flooded First Ave. and 3) going to Arlingt Park to bet on the horses. Rarely do I find someone stu ing in the MDL's anymore.

YrII/ Day 107--St. Luke's Night:

Another disappointment. (In more ways than one)

YrII/ Day 134--Post exam blues:

I don't know what it was I studied, but I certainly did study the stuff that was on the Micro final. When th gave us two test booklets (a blue and a yellow), I knew was in trouble.

YrII/ Day 150--Pre-Boards:

First day of second semester and I'm faced with a tough decision...study for boards, or go on the annual class ski trip to the U.P.

YrII/ Day 162--Second Semester and P-Dog:

First of all, where does that stupid name, Pee-Dog, come from. Is it just something Dr, Hering thought up? Finally, we get some patient exposure. This is what medicine is all about. I can't wait to see my first live patient! Tonight, I practice steps 1-25 of the exam and tomorrow steps 26-73. I hope my cat's ready for a long night of poking and proding. (I'll skip step 65--the rectal. I don't have gloves.)

YrII/ Day 181--Preceptorship:

Here's my big day. Today I was supposed to meet with my preceptor ... but he blew me off!

YrII/Day 181-Preceptorship part II:

Here's my big day, again. I did my first history today. My voice seemed to crackle and my palms were so sweaty, but I knew I was successful when it took me under two hours to suspect cellulitis/ And next...the physical (which will be done tomorrow at the request of the patient).

YrII/ Day 260--End of Second Year.

Organ systems exam was difficult, priming me for what lay ahead---National Boards part I. I have three weeks and not a second to waste. Time to start cramming (again).

June 12, 1991--NMBE part I:

Two days from hell. I never want to see a soft No.2 lead pencil again. I hated those glossy photo pages. There was a photo of a cell, a fibroblast---er, I think it was a fibroblast. Whatever!! The test is over! Good thing I wasn't one of those unlucky souls in Wisconsin who have to wait until September. DA BULLS won the NBA championship and I'm outta here!!!

YrIII/ Surgery:

"Sleep is for the weak", "7 O'clock, not to be confused with 7:01", "The Big Rich vs. the Big Deaver — which one will I get today?", "Do I dare ask to scrub out because: 1)my arms are tired 2)hypoglycemia 3)I shouldn't have drank 3 cups of coffee and 4)you've seen one Whipple, you've seen them all?

Pediatrics:

It's not even winter, and I've got the worst cold of my life. The most important thing to remember about a sick kid — otitis media, otitis media, otitis media. (Okay, let's not forget viral gastroenteritis). Now, at the playground, I can differentiate a Tanner 2 from a Tanner 3.

OB/GYN:

Here, we can help bring in a new life, one that may someday change the world. I got to do my first delivery — okay, so I "delivered" a placenta. The next day I actually delivered the baby and then demonstrated my surgical precision at cutting the umbilical cord. At gyne clinic, I became dehydrated after sweating at least 2 liters while trying to find the "button nose".

Psychiatry:

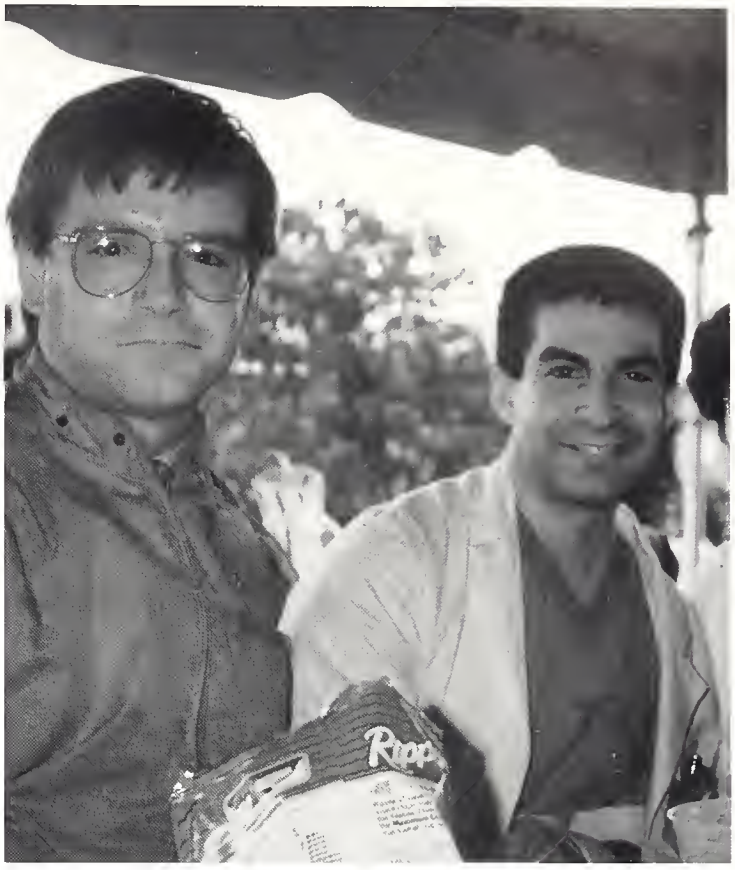
I enjoyed the rotation .... no you didn't .... yes I did .... hey, who said that ...



Nothing like life in the VA-spa. I attended team meetings, group sessions and competed in the Hines Psych Monthly Ping-Pong Tournament. I hung out with "Steven Segal" and "Jesus Christ" as well as countless Munchausen's malingerers. Yep, psych sure was an experience to remember.

Medicine:

I have never spent so much time discussing one patient, as I have on this rotation. Rounds can take up to 6 hours! I'm getting out as late as I did during surgery. At Hines, I discouraged the service from ordering labs, because "you-know-who" would have to draw them. Why is it that no matter how many things I included in my differential diagnosis, my attending would know 10 more??!!

Year IV — The Quest for the Residency Begins

The year started with my electives geared toward my chosen specialty. I worked extra hard those first few months to line up good letters of recommendation. But then, it was "Miller Time" — time to relax and read the mail from Podunk Hospital in Idaho. Ah yes, the countless hours wasted sifting through mindless propaganda and "doctored-up" photo catalogues. Every hospital emphasized their wonderful recreational facilities and beautiful communities. (I'll have plenty of time to enjoy those things, NOT) The early part of the year was filled with deadlines — deadlines for letters of recommendation, deadlines for signing up for the boards, deadlines for turning in applications and best of all, deadlines for deadlines. I typed my personal statement and curriculum vitae with diligent care, expanding voids with fillers such as community service and volunteer work. On the applications, the Honors and Awards section boasted achievements such as "Boy Scout of the Year, Troop 411, 1985".

By November, I was bitten by a Drosophila infected with the senioritis bug. This diagnosis came about empirically, based on the symptoms of: 1)easy fatigueability, 2)lack of motivation, 3)general disregard for house staff, and 4)increased awareness of places and ways to "hide out". Of course, people afflicted with this ailment should refrain from going to work — a recommendation which I followed.

About mid-November, I started hearing from programs to which I had applied. Rejection and disappointment weren't too hard to accept, after being conditioned by four years at St. Luke's Night. But, surprisingly, my applications were actually read by several hospitals and interviews were granted. On the interview circuit I felt like a hobo, traveling from town to town, surviving on the free meals provided by the hospitals. (But remember, "There are no free lunches".)

After a quick winter vacation, I returned to the grind starting with cardiographics, then St. Lucia, and then surgical anatomy. After countless hours of tormenting deliberation, I submitted my rank list. I think I changed my rank list ten times ... eleven, if you count the time right before I turned it in.

I was haunted by the ever approaching Match Day and the nuisance of the USMLE II (formerly known as NMBE II — like it makes a difference what you call a test!) Why don't they just call it the RS-TNLS part II? Sure, I wanted to study for the boards, but who had the time? For now, I had oodles of social obligations to fill my time. Anyhow, I was told 98% pass the boards (which, of course, means 2.4 people in our class would not).

Match Day came and went. They gave us Match Day off. Why not the day after Match day? or even better, why not the whole week off? On that Monday before the Match, I was preoccupied with worries of receiving that dreaded "phone call" from the Dean. I nearly had an MI when the phone rang at 5:15 p.m. (Fortunately, it was only the Visa company calling and wanting to know if I was interested in their credit card protection plan.) On Tuesday, my anxiety multiplied. I just wanted to know "where?". On Wednesday, March 17, 1993, the envelope was handed to me and the answer was finally revealed!

Boards went by like all the other exams — a sort of queezy nauseous feeling, but I passed. Now, I sit with my boxes packed and addressed to Podunk, Idaho, anxiously waiting to start my life again. As I look back, all the hours spent studying, all the frustrations and fears, all the trials and tears, were tempered by the warmth and love of the friends I'd made. The true memories and feelings of medical school, perhaps the most intense and significant part of my life, are too great to put on paper. I look forward with great anticipation; confident, that I have a little more of "what it takes" to be a doctor.

A WOMAN'S CHOICE OTHERWISE...
UNWANTED CHILD WHERE ARE YOU TONIGHT
IN A BAR ON THE STREETS LOSING THE FIGHT
BORN TO PARENTS WHO DID NOT CARE.
LOVE BLIND - WHAT'S THE CRIME YOU BEAR
UNPLANNED, UNWANTED, BORN OF SHAME
BEATEN, ABUSED - THE TARGET OF BLAME
BORN BY DEFEAT NOT NECESSARILY BY CHOICE.
YOU COULDN'T PROTEST - YOU HAD NO VOICE
BETTER TO BE BORN
WHEN IT IS YOUR TIME
THEN TO EXIST IN A WORLD
WHERE YOU CONTINUALLY DIE

STOPPING BY WOODS
ON A SNOWY EVENING

Whose woods these are I think I know.
His house is in the village though;
He will not see me stopping here
To watch his woods fill up with snow.

My little horse must think it queer
To stop without a farmhouse near
Between the woods and frozen lake
The darkest evening of the year.

He gives his harness bells a shake
To ask if there is some mistake.
The only other sound's the sweep
Of easy wind and downy flake.

The woods are lovely, dark and deep,
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

Live Your World of Dreams

Lean against a tree
And dream your world of dreams
Work hard at what you like to do
And try to overcome all obstacles
Laugh at your mistakes
And praise yourself for learning from them
Pick some flowers
And appreciate the beauty of nature
Say hello to strangers
And enjoy the people you know
Don't be afraid to show your emotions
Laughing and crying make you feel better
Love your friends, family with your entire being
They are the most important part of your life
Feel the calmness on a quiet sunny day
And plan what you want to accomplish in life
Find a rainbow
And live your
World of dreams - Susan Polis Schutz

ELVIS ARON PRESLEY
Elvis Presley was born in Tupelo, Mississippi on January 8, 1935, the son of Vernon and Gladys Presley. He moved to Memphis in 1948.
Soon after signing a contract with Sun Records in 1954 he achieved tremendous popularity. His musical and acting career in records, movies, television and concerts made him one of the most successful and outstanding entertainers the world. He died on August 16, 1977 and is here at his Memphis home, Graceland.

I've come a long way from the first blood pressure screening in the local grocery store. Yes, I now know which way to put the stethoscope in my ears! However, the tension in the pit of my stomach is still there, every time I do a new procedure or deal with a difficult patient. The thrill is there too - that first delivery, the first time I sewed up a finger in the ER. As I look toward the future, I anticipate a lot of things - challenges, long hours, deeply personal moments in people's lives. One thing I know for sure - medicine is never boring!

I am grateful to my parents for giving me the knowledge that I can do anything I set out to do. Thanks Mom and Dad for always being there for me! And Cameron, thanks for putting up with all the craziness of being married to a medhead (now and in the years to come). Je t'aime!

To my fellow medical students: Never forget that the patient is why we are all here. VAYA CON DIOS! (Go with God).

I went to the woods
because I wished to live deliberately,
to front only the essentials of life,
and see if I could not learn
what it had to teach,
and not, when I came to die,
discover that I had not lived.

QUOTES

"Why did we want to go to medical school?...because we are bad at math."

Dr. Ing

"We should put hydrochlorothiazide and furosemide in the drinking water."

Dr. Cooper

[on the prevalence of hypertension in this country]

"Giving these lectures is like sending radio waves into space."

Dr. Cooper

[concerning these last three Preventive Medicine MDL sessions]

QUOTES

"Being a Medical Student is like being in the front line and you're shooting blanks" Dr. Silberberg [and if you are a second year medical student, all you have is your hand in your pocket.]

"[this was a study] between Loyola and the University of Southern Alabama...what an unholy alliance that was!"

Dr. Baker

"Is there a zoom lens?" Dr. Hatch

[obviously unaware of the limited capabilities of our slide projector]

"Can I have a lick?" Nip Vadehra to Matt Schmidt

[requesting a taste of Matt's lolipop]

ARE YOU LAUGHING YET?

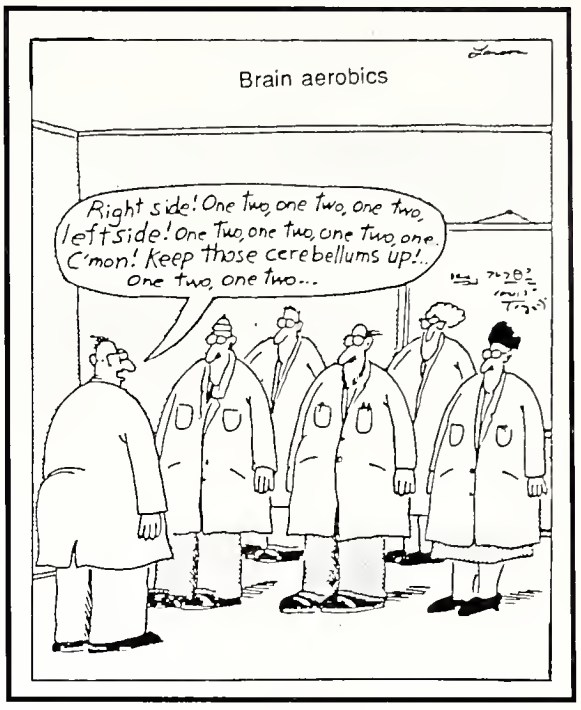
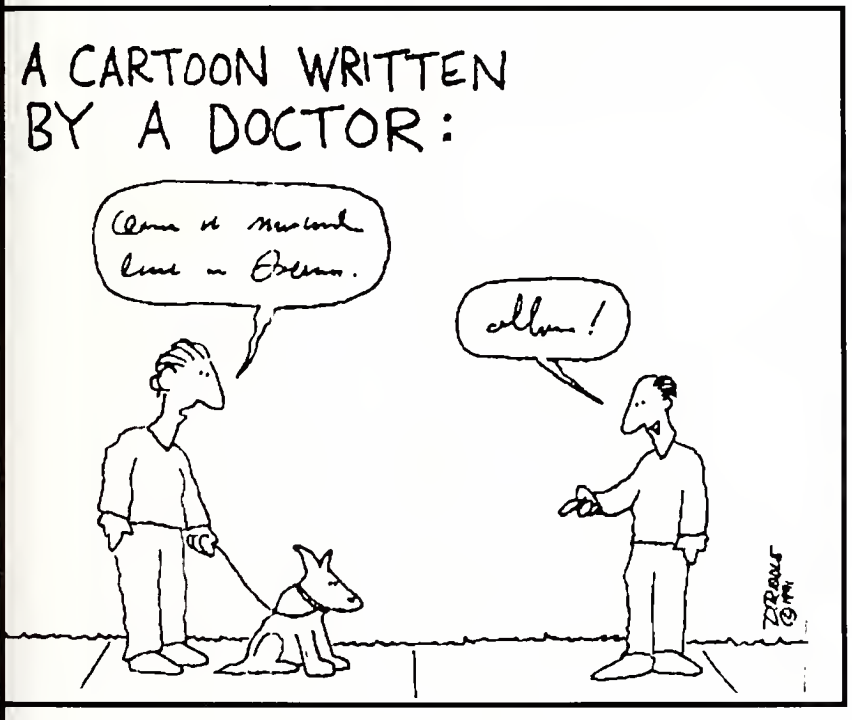
"It was awful. I heard this rumbling . . . I felt the earth shake . . .
Then there was a loud crack and the rest of the country slid into the ocean."



Brain aerobics
Right side! One two, one two, one two, left side! One two, one two, one two, one. C'mon! Keep those cerebellums up!.. one two, one two...



Final page of the Medical Boards

When entering a lecture late, one should:

a. walk in the front door, pass in front of the professor and sit in the front row

b. walk in the back door, stroll down the aisle blocking the projector and climb over ten people to get to that corner seat

c. walk in the back door and take a seat in the back of the room quietly without disrupting the entire class

EDITOR'S NOTE:

Well everyone, this is it, the 1993 Yearbook! This book is product of many long hours spent meeting, picture pickin debating whether to keep the tool lines or get rid of them, counti picas, cutting, pasting, labeling, cropping and re-cropping, typi and re-typing making sure the lines match up, proof-reading, etc Was it worth it?? Well, umm... er... eh...Yes!

Thanks to the Class of 1993. Though we were constantly calli and nagging everyone for money, pictures and signatures, everyo was understanding and willing to contribute.

Thanks to the Yearbook Staff. You're the best!!! Thanks Eugene and Jeff, especially for keeping things rolling while I w gone • Aras and his wonderful sales skills • Patti and Wendy for th work on many of the sections. They always knew the perfect la out. • Alli, her constant energy kept us all going • Mary, who kept r sane and encouraged me to pull through those "difficult months Aeri, Imelda, and Marianne who helped out the team in many big a little ways.

Also, thanks to Medical Photography, the Loyola library sta Dean of Students Office, Dean of Student Affairs, Office Registration and Records, Wyckoff Portraits, Mary Powers, and t late Mr. Moorhead.

I wish the Class of 1993 the best of luck. I hope this book hol many good memories! God Bless.

... for all their support, patience and encouragement throughout the production of this yearbook!

Robert C. Moorhead
1929 - 1993

Bob has been the Walsworth Publishing Company yearbook representative to Loyola University since 1969. He signed on with the 1983 School of Dentistry book, and continued with the first Stritch School of Medicine book in 1985.

During his tenure with Loyola, Bob devoted many long and unselfish hours to the betterment of Loyola's books. Appreciating the uniqueness of health profession students, Bob made himself available on many evenings and weekends, over many years, surely at the expense of his family and other interests (mostly golf - who could forget those pants!).

His dedication, loyalty, patience and willingness to teach paid yearly dividends, as the quality of our books clearly demonstrated. He took the time to get to know us both as an institution and as individual human beings. His caring demeanor, nurturing hands, professional guidance, compassion, ethics, sense of fairness, and his trustworthiness will be hard to replace.

Loyola University, her students, and most of all myself, have lost a dear friend. We will miss you Bob. Though I have told you many times, may I say it once more:

"Thank you for all you have done for us, we could never have done it without you."

Vaya con Dios,

Mike Lambesis, Assistant Dean of Students, on behalf of all the yearbook staffs in the history of Loyola University.

Loyola University of Chicago admits students without regard to their race, color, sex or national or ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and other activities generally acc or made available to students at the school. Loyola University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, sex or national or ethnic origin in administration of its educational policies, a sions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.
Otherwise qualified individuals are not subject to discrimination on the basis of handicap.
If you believe you have been discriminated against because of race, sex, national origin, or handicap, please contact the Office of the Dean of Students.

Due to rigid time requirements, this yearbook must be printed before the final lists of degree candidates can be determined. The exclusion of the name of a student is not to be taken as cation of his official status as a non-graduate nor is the inclusion of the name of a student to be taken as certification of his or her official status as a graduate.
